ATHARVA DESHMUKH

Product Designer

Remote or relocating anywhere in India | atharvadeshmukh.dev@gmail.com | +91 8103548618
atharva3000-portfolio.framer.website | linkedin.com/in/atharvadeshmukh3000 | github.com/atharva-3000

Hello,

You are hiring a product designer, which usually means there are flows waiting to be designed and not enough people to take them from a rough idea to a shipped screen. That gap is the work I have been doing for nearly two years.

Right now I am the sole product designer on a new EdTech platform for a Singapore-based consultancy. I designed separate Admin, Trainer and Student experiences and the full path from checkout to an enrolled learner. I built it as well, so what shipped matches the Figma file.

Before that I was Design Lead for one founder across two launches. At DQN.red I designed the profiles, quests and a two-token checkout on a design system I built from scratch; the launch brought a $300K+ organic presale and 6,000 active users. At Bango.fun, a prediction market for micro-communities, I led the relaunch redesign, and the product won a $10K Avalanche Retro9000 grant.

I design the edge cases and error states, not only the happy path, and engineers can build my files without guesswork. What I am looking for now is one product team to commit to and grow with.

My work is at atharva3000-portfolio.framer.website, and I can start immediately. I would be glad to hear what you are building.

Best regards,
Atharva Deshmukh